Too many people in the U.S. are suffering needlessly or dying because they can't afford care. Too many people are going bankrupt from high medical bills. The answer is simple: Medicare for All.

Momentum is growing – with a majority of the public support and an increasing number of politicians calling for Medicare for All. But in order to eventually win guaranteed health care for everyone, we must educate our communities and mobilize at all levels of government. Join an organizing party to kick-off our local effort to pass city/town/county resolutions in support of guaranteed health care for everyone in the United States through Medicare for All.
